Pat 72
2367
4400

THE AMERICAN

CATHOLIC QUARTERLY

REVIEW.

Bonum est homini ut eum veritas vincat volentem, quia malum est homini ut eum veritas vincat invitum. Nam ipsa vincat necesse est, sive negantem sive confitentem.

S. AUG. EPIST. CCXXXVIII. AD PASCENT.

VOLUME XIII.

FROM JANUARY TO OCTOBER, 1888.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS
CITY OF WASHINGTON.

PHILADELPHIA:
HARDY & MAHONY,
PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS,
505 CHESTNUT STREET.

AP2
.A332

COPYRIGHT, 1888,

BY

HARDY & MAHONY.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

PAGE

CHRISTIANITY AND MODERN SCIENCE. By His Eminence Cardinal Gibbons, 1

True science does not lead away from Christianity, 1; Those who say it does are but childish declaimers, 2; What Revelation teaches us regarding the material world, 3; What the wonders of nature suggest to us, 4; The Catholic Church encourages and fosters science, 5; Civilization's debt to her, 6; Christians lead in every branch of art and science, 7; The Bible and science, 8; Interpretation of Scripture, 9; Unity of the human species, 10; The Church surviving the wreck of scientific theories, 11.

WHY TASTES DIFFER. By Prof. St. George Mivart, F.R.S., ... 12

Variations of fashion, 12; Divergences of taste and the doctrine of evolution, 13; How the actions of animals are directed, 14; Variations that may be inherited, 15; Truth can be attributed to things absolutely, 16; Consideration of the term goodness, 17; Character of the moral law, 18; Objectivity of beauty, 19; How it differs from truth and goodness, 20; Objective beauty and human feelings, 21; The faculty of apprehending beauty, 23; Accounting for all the varieties of tastes and feelings among men, 25; Goodness and beauty even in the vilest and lowest things, 26; Effect of hereditary influences upon tastes, 27.

SOME PECULIARITIES OF THE SYRIAC OFFICE. By Rt. Rev. James A. Corcoran, D.D., ... 28

Great antiquity of the Breviary used in the Syrian Church, 28; Its relation to Eutychianism, 29; In what the value of the liturgy of the Eastern heretics consists, 30; Present relations of the Church to the Eastern Christians, 31; The Church and the early heresies, 33; Some Eastern liturgical gems, 34; Testimony to St. Peter's primacy, 35; Examples from the Maronites' office, 36; A title used by the Mediæval Latin Church, 38; The Syrian Church thoroughly imbued with the Catholic spirit, 39; Archbiscop Carroll's prayer, 40; It is neither good nor safe to try to be wiser than the Church, 41.

THE SACERDOTAL JUBILEE OF HIS HOLINESS POPE LEO XIII. By Rev. Henry A. Brann, D.D., ... 42

The universal homage which the Pope's jubilee called forth, 42; Pius IX. and Leo XIII., 43; Difference of the circumstances surrounding them, 44; Respect for the office as an outcome of admiration for the man, 45; Now more than ever do all roads lead to Rome, 46; The Piedmontese usurpation must end, 47; The Catholic world will insist on restitution being made, 48; Catholics of the United States are exceptionally interested in the issue, 49; Leo preparing the way for the restoration of the temporal power, 50; Lesson of the homage paid to the Sovereign Pontiff, 51.

THE CENTRAL ERROR OF MODERN PHILOSOPHY. By Rev. R. F. Clarke, S.J, ... 52

The process of abstraction and the formation of universal ideas, 52; Certain processes which are often mistaken for apprehension, 53; The faculties of sense which are peculiar to man, 55; The concept, or result of the process of apprehension, 56; Why our intellect requires the aid of palpable symbols, 58; Distinctions between images of objects of which we speak or think, 59; The modern theory opening the door upon a boundless vista of contradiction and skepticism, 61; The common phantasms that animals have, 63; Catholics should guard the touchstone of a true philosophical system, 64; A concrete example, 65; The fatal defect of most modern philosophers, 66; Thought as related to both the intellect and the imagination, 67; Comparison of the nominalist and conceptionalist theories, 68; The one question that both leave unsolved, 70.

A PILGRIMAGE TO THE BIRTHPLACE AND CLOISTERED HOME OF THOMAS À KEMPIS. By John Gilmary Shea, LL.D., ... 72

The authorship of "The Following of Christ," 72; Claims in favor of Chancellor Gerson and Abbot Gerson, 73; Dr. Cruise's "Notes of a Visit" to the scenes in which Thomas à Kempis's life was spent, 75; Characteristics of Thomas à Kempis's writings, 76; How his life was spent, 77; Visiting the old town of Kempen, 78; Memories of Thomas in and around Deventer, 79; A priceless treasure kept in an humble receptacle, 80; Authenticity of the relics of Thomas à Kempis, 81.

INDIVIDUALISM AND EXCLUSIVE OWNERSHIP. By James A. Cain, . . . 82

A communistic ideal has sprung up in all ages, 82; The supreme ideal which the Christian Church proposes for man's attainment, 83; Origin of exclusive ownership, 84; How Henry George defends Communism, 85; How the Scholastic Philosopher treated the subject, 86; Law in accordance with the dictates of right reason, 87; Private ownership a product of human legislation, 88; Mutability in the common law of nations, 89; How Mr. George holds the absolute communism of the land, 90; How the new theory would subordinate the supreme authority in society to the will of each individual, 91; Reasoning that runs counter to sound principle, 92; Nature of individualism, 93; The theory of absolute individualism leads to inconsistency and absurdity, 94.

PAGE

THE APOSTLE OF ALASKA. By Rev. Henry Van Rensselaer, S.J., ... 95

The characteristic work of Archbishop Seghers, 95; How he chose to labor in the Vancouver Mission, 96; His zeal for the conversion of the Indians, 97; An apparently miraculous restoration of health, 98; Father Seghers is made a bishop, 99; Another visit to the Indians on the west coast of Vancouver, 100; Showing a special predilection for Alaska, 101; Describing his northern journey, 102; The Indians on the Yukon river, 103; Return from Alaska, 104; His labors as coadjutor to the Archbishop of Oregon, 105; He succeeds to that See, 106; His tribute to Archbishop Blanchet, 107; Resigning this See to return to Alaska, 108; Characteristic appeal for his far-off mission, 109; Again in the wild North, 110; Invested a second time with the pallium, 111; His second trip on the Yukon, 112; Graphic description of an adventurous journey, 113; How he came by his death, 115; His body removed to St. Michael's, 116; Account of the wretched murderer, 117; The most fitting monument Catholics can erect to Archbishop Seghers's memory, 118.

DOES THE END JUSTIFY THE MEANS? By Rt. Rev. James A. Corcoran, D.D. 119

A Jesuit theologian's strange oversight, 119; How "Bishop" Coxe repeats a threadbare false charge, 120; Paul Bert as a witness, 121; A mutilated quotation from Busenbaum, 122; His rational solution of a knotty point, 123; Rev. Dr. Littledale's dishonesty, 124; Painting his own character, 125; Garbled quotations from Laymann and Wagemann, 126; The sound doctrine that all the Jesuits teach, 127; How a German preacher met the same old charges years ago, 128; A proud distinction for the Jesuits, 129.

AN ENGLISH PUBLIC SCHOOL OF A PAST GENERATION. By W. Marsham Adams, ... 130

Some strange fancies of youth and manhood, 130; The town of Winchester and Chancellor Wykeham's foundation there, 131; A first glance at the ancient school, 132; The first objects of interest inside the gate, 133; An elaborate organization for such a small body, 134; Only a part of its founder's munificence, 135; How admission to the college was secured, 136; Election ceremonies and fagging, 137; A fair proficiency attained in studies, 139; Close of the course there, 140.

ANDOVER ORTHODOXY—WHITHER AWAY? By Rev. Alfred Young, C.S.P., . 141

A remarkable volume of theological essays, 141; The dominant idea presented to us in this volume, 142; Strength of the Andover teaching, 143; How the essays treat the fundamental doctrines of religion, 144; What the whole and sole purpose of the Christian religion is, 145; Their affirmation of the religious keystone, 146; How creation affirms itself, 147; Theological reasoning applicable to the ethical order, 148; The divine idea of humanity and its ethical relations, 149; God's regeneration of humanity, 150; What the principle of redemption here set forth plainly shows, 151; Exposition of the essayist's logical position, 152; A sublime and beautiful expression of Catholic dogma, 154; The Andover theologians have not yet realized the logical consequences of their doctrines, 155; How the essayists put a great truth, 156; How only a universal Christianity can be affirmed, 157.

SCIENTIFIC CHRONICLE. By Rev. J. M. Degni, S.J., ... 158

The British Association, 158; Induction Telegraphy, 160; Aluminium bronze as a gun-metal, 161; Two international scientific meetings, 163; Minor items—two new inventions, solar physics, 164; electric storage batteries, 165.

THE LAW OF NATURE DIVINE AND SUPREME. By His Eminence Cardinal Manning, ... 193

The relief of the poor in England, 193; Sacred foundation of the Poor Law, 194; St. Thomas's statement of the doctrine of the Catholic Church, 195; American comments on the Cardinal's views, 196; Their superiority to English comments, 197; How primary truths of human life are forgotten, 198.

PROFESSOR HUXLEY'S DEMURRER. By Paul R. Shipman, ... 199

Huxley's definition of Materialism, 199; In what his demurrer consists, 200; His treatment of consciousness as a function of the brain, 201; Weakness of his illustration of his argument, 202; Relation of consciousness to matter and force, 203; Professor Huxley against himself, 204; Is an effect of the same nature as its cause? 205; Relations of knowledge to states of consciousness, 206; What the mind is capable of knowing, according to Huxley's theory, 207; Defensive value of his stronghold, 208; The file he has in this instance to bite, 209; Huxley, as well as Homer, sometimes nods, 210.

AMERICA DISCOVERED AND CHRISTIANIZED IN THE TENTH AND ELEVENTH CENTURIES. By Richard H. Clarke, LL.D., ... 211

Recent memorials of the Northmen's stay on our continent, 211; Columbus and the Northmen, 212; What caused the westward wanderings of the latter, 213; Thorwald and Eric, 214; The Greenland colony of Northmen, 215; Their extermination by pestilence, 216; The Norse discoverer of the first land of our continent, 217; Eric and Heriulf, 218; Consequences of the conversion of a king of Norway, 219; Conversion of Leif and his voyage to the west and south, 220; His German companion, Tyrker, 221; Location of Vinland, 221; It was probably the modern Rhode Island, 222; Conflict with the Esquimaux, 223; Death and burial of Thorwald Ericson, 224; The most remarkable expedition to Vinland was that of Thorfin Karlsefne, 225; Vinland becomes famous in Greenland story, 226; Trouble caused by Thorhall, 227; Records of Norse attempts at colonization 228; More of Thorfin and Thorhall, 229; Children of prophecy and favorites of fortune, 230; The expedition in which Freydis flourished, 231; Devastation of the Vinland Colony, 232; An interesting poem preserved at Copenhagen, 233; "Ancient Ballad of Finn the Fair," 234; Had Columbus any knowledge of the Norse discoveries? 236.

PAGE

THE PRESENT ATTITUDE OF ENGLAND TOWARDS THE HOLY SEE. By Arthur F. Marshall, B.A. (Oxon.), ... 238

The English attitude not a religious one, 238; Indifferentism the real enemy of the Catholic Church to-day, 239; Distinctions between the England of to-day and that of thirty years ago, 240; Attached and unattached members of England's national church, 241; Anglicans condemning their own sect, 242; Oddities of life in the Anglican ministry, 243; Some few Ritualists still in earnest, 244; The average Anglican's idea of the Holy See, 245; The governmental and social phases of England's attitude towards Rome, 246; Indifferentism the kernel of the whole matter, 247; What the working-classes think and say about the Pope, 248; Attitudes of the thinking class, 249; They seem not to know that faith is a Divine gift, 250; An exceptional school of haters of Rome, 251; Not doctrine, but assertion of a priestly prerogative, alarms the Ritualist, 252; Summing up the causes of England's dread of things Roman, 253.

THE CHURCH AND HISTORICAL SCIENCE. By Prof. Charles G. Herbermann, Ph.D., ... 255

The change that has of late years come over non-Catholic literature, 255; What is meant by historical criticism, 256; Mabillon and other masters of the art, 257; Noble rivalry of the Jesuits and the Benedictines, 258; The Isidorian Decretals and Constantine's Donation, 258; The Bollandists, 259; They and other Catholic writers eulogized by Protestants, 260; Multiplication and publication of ancient documents not a modern invention, 261; Works of men born and bred in the Catholic Church, 262; The great fault of historians who write to support a doctrinal thesis, 263; Canon Stokes on the value of the Bollandists' great work, 264; Wattenbach on the French Benedictines, 265; Other Catholic writers of history, 266; Very little done in Germany before the present century, 267; Modern work done in England, 268; The stimulus given to historic studies by the present Pope, 269.

THE RIGHT OF INDIVIDUAL OWNERSHIP—DOES IT SPRING FROM THE NATURAL OR THE HUMAN LAW? By Mgr. J. de Concilio, . . . 270

Statement of the two prevailing opinions among Catholics as to ownership, 270; Statement of the problem as to land, 271; Differences between the two rules of action 272; Character of the jus gentium, 273; The common opinion of the Compactists 275; Objections raised by modern Catholic writers, 277; Admissions which the Compactists freely make, 280; The sanction of the natural law an essential condition to every human law, 281; Principles loudly proclaimed by the natural law, 282; The Compactists deny the necessity of holding goods in private, 283; Would stealing in their system be an evil act, 284; What Billuart says on the subject, 285; Views of other writers, 286; What makes a man a proprietor, 287; A final reason against the Compact theory, 288; Summing up the argument of modern Catholic authors against it, 291; Those who have held the opinion of the Naturalists, 292; Opinions of theologians, 293; Statement of the salient points of the modern system, 294; Its import and significance, 295; A doubt as to the right of occupancy, 296; Statement of other modern principles, 297; Whence do the rights come to the State? 298; Modern authors on an objection of the Compactists, 299; Necessity of private ownership, 301; What positions the Compactists and Naturalists must respectively maintain, 303.

THE RE-UNION OF CHRISTENDOM. By Rt. Rev. John J. Keane, D.D., . . . 304

A recent incident showing alarm in the Anglican Church, 304; Uncertain position of the Established Church in England, 306; A problem whose solution depends on the will of God, 307; How Catholics should be disposed towards their erring brethren, 308; There is little reason why we should now meet them as controversialists, 309; Futility of the "Branch" theory, 310; The policy of good sense, truth and charity, 311; We are bound to offer the most ample educational advantages, 312; This is an additional reason for the establishment of the Catholic University of America, 313.

GOLD FIELDS AND OTHER UNWORKED TREASURES OF IRELAND. By John Boyle O'Reilly, ... 314

Ireland's material resources demand our consideration, 314; Summary of her mineral treasures, 315; Ancient and modern evidences of a great wealth of gold, 316; Gold produced in Ireland in the present century, 318; Many minerals to be found in a single mine, 319; A parliamentary investigation on Irish minerals, 320; Wicklow's wealth, 321; Why the Irish gold fields are not worked, 322; Possible profit from the workable silver in Wicklow, 323; Very little gold worked recently, 324; Ireland ought to be the home of many industries, 325.

PROTESTANT INTEREST IN PATRISTIC LITERATURE. By Rt. Rev. James A. Corcoran, D.D., ... 327

The recent revival of interest in the Fathers, 327; Protestantism swallowed up in rationalism, 328; A recent edition of St. Augustin's letters, 329; Reprehensible indexing, 330; Wilful perversion of Biblical nomenclature, 331; St. Augustine's treatise on Christian doctrine, 332; Trying to pervert the belief in prayers for the dead, 333; St. Augustine and creature worship, 334.

PAGE

THE WEAPONS OF SO-CALLED MODERN SCIENCE. By Rev. W. Poland, S.J., 335

The animal ethics of to-day the natural outcome of Protestantism, 335; How the old religious battle-ground has changed, 336; Danger of the quiet growth of Positivism, 337; The two great divisions of natural science, 338; Character of knowledge according to modern scientists, 339; The part played by so-called erudition, 341; Science writing its own epitaph, 342; Scientific knowledge easy to be acquired, 343; The great work that defenders of religion have to do, 344.

FEDERAL SCHEMES TO AID COMMON SCHOOLS IN THE SOUTHERN STATES. By John Gilmary Shea, LL.D., ... 345

An educational symptom of danger to our Federal Government, 345; A well-laid scheme to nationalize education, 346; Senator Blair's early efforts in this direction, 347; His faulty statistics, 348; His project essentially sectarian, 349; Has Congress a right to appropriate money for public schools, 350; Senator Hawley's objection to the Blair Bill, 351; Where the Bill now rests, 352; The objections to it clearly restated, 353; School statistics of the Southern States 354; Senator Blair's revised pamphlet, 355; His hatred of Catholicity, 356; How little he knows about the Jesuits, 357; Evil results of Federal control of public schools, 358.

SCIENTIFIC CHRONICLE By Rev. J. M. Degni, S. J., ... 360

Catholic scientific meeting, 360; Spectrum analysis and the Rowland gratings, 361; The mineral resources of the United States, 365; Isolation of fluorine and the chemical theories, 367; Electric items, 369; Minor items, 371.

THE LATEST HISTORIAN OF THE INQUISITION. By Rev. R. S. Dewey, S.J., . 385

Mr. Lea's value as a teacher of history, 385; He lacks theological training necessary for his subject. 386; He foresaw his difficulties, but did not avoid them, 387; The examination necessary for every student to make, 388; An illustration in point, 389; Mr. Lea on the Church's position in the twelfth century, 390; His work deserves to be judged harshly, 391; Peculiarities of his position against the Church, 392; His utter ignorance of Catholic theology, 393; How he perverts his testimony, 394; Evidence from a mediæval nun, 395; What is necessary to a correct understanding of the Inquisition, 396; The two capital sins of our would-be historian, 397; His favors to be regarded with suspicion, 398; The book filled with nasty anecdotes, 399; Does it show evidence of real historical research? 400; How he ignores Catholic writers of history, 401; Mr. Lea's true worth as a teacher of history, 403; He has proved his incompetency to deal with the material he has gathered, 404.

ART AND RELIGION. By Peter L. Foy, ... 405

The fine arts in modern civilization, 405; Is there a necessary relation between religion and art? 406; The genesis of art, 407; What religion has had to do with the development of the fine arts, 408; How long the decadence of art has been going on, 409; All Christian art purely religious, 410; How old is the relation between Christianity and art? 411; The Pagan temple and the Christian Church, 412; The primary purpose of Christian art, 413; Roman art declined with Roman Supremacy, 414; Art in the early Middle Ages, 415; The Byzantines out of line, 416; Christian art in the "dark" ages, 417; Marvels of artistic beauty, 418; Inestimable legacies bequeathed by the "dark" ages to later times, 419; Characteristics of the later Middle Ages, 420; What Gothic architecture represented, 421; How all the arts harmoniously worked together, 422; Where Gothic architecture had its purest development, 423; The religious life of the Middle Ages, 424; Real beginning and growth of the so-called Renaissance, 426; The high place in art held by the illuminations, 428; Where the poetic inspiration of art came from, 429.

JOHANNES JANSSEN, GERMANY'S GREAT HISTORIAN. By John A. Mooney, 429

The modern improvements in the method of writing history, 429; Janssen's conspicuous place as a historian, 430; Sketch of his life, 431; Character and result of his life of Wibald, 432; Wibald's influence on his age, 433; Janssen in the intellectual life of Frankfurt, 434; His intimacy with Böhmer, 435; His services as a student of art, 436; From art he digresses into history, 437; Böhmer's character and influence, 438; Janssen adopts his views of history and historians, 439; He shows the worthlessness of Schiller as a historian, 440; His view of the struggle for the Rhineland, 442; Showing France as an ally of Protestantism, 443; Writing the life of his friend and teacher, 444; The growth of German rationalism, 445; Janssen's estimate of Humboldt, 447; And of Schopenhauer, 448; Influence of religion on science and literature, 449; Studies on Bunsen, 450; Politicians admitting the weakness of a divided Protestantism, 452; The uncertain foundation of the present German empire, 453; Effect of Bismarck's policy, 455; Indictment of the one purely Protestant State, 456; The attention attracted in Germany by Janssen's writings, 457; A man gifted with rare powers of observation and analysis, 458; His great work, the "History of the German People," 460; Why Catholics should be proud of its author, 461.

BUDDHISM AND CHRISTIANITY COMPARED. By Rev. R. Parsons, D.D., . . 462

The three universalist religions, 462; What we know of the origin of Buddhism, 463; Account of the Buddha, 464; The literature bearing upon him, 466; De Broglie's theory and its refutation, 467; All that we know about the Nirvana, 468; The moral doctrine of Buddhism, 470; Resemblance between Buddhism and Christianity, 471; The life of Christ and Sakya Muni compared, 472; The marvellously rapid propagation of Christianity, 474; Effect of Buddhism on the people who have accepted it, 477.

PAGE

TWENTY-FOUR YEARS IN BUENOS AYRES. By M. A. C., ... 478

Arrival of Irish Sisters of Mercy in Buenos Ayres, 478; The city was then one vast pest house, 479; Quiet intervals between visitations of yellow fever, 480; Life at Buenos Ayres and the Sisters' work, 481; Sketch of Mother M. Evangelista Fitzpatrick, 482; Revolutionary outbreak against the religious orders, 483; A terrible scene described by an eye-witness, 484; Relations between Buenos Ayres and New Orleans, 485; The infidels trying to force unworthy members into religion, 487; Withdrawal of the Sisterhood from Buenos Ayres, 488; Their voyage to Australia, 489; Mother Evangelista's residence in Adelaide, 490; The intellectual life of the Order, 491; It has prospered in its new home, 492.

INDUCTION, ANCIENT AND MODERN. By Rev. R. F. Clarke, S.J., ... 493

Inductive science and modern research, 493; Gains and losses from its use, 494; Definition of induction, 495; Distinction between complete and incomplete induction, 496; How complete induction is of practical usefulness, 497; The weak point of a complete induction, 498; Incomplete or material induction, 499; Cardinal Zigliara on the force of an induction, 500; Illustrations of this method of argument, 501; Why it concerns us to investigate the subject, 502; Relation of induction to the physical laws, 503; The importance of distinguishing between certitude and probability, 504; Character of the instances on which a law must be based, 505; The method of difference, 506; A case in illustration, 507; Practical and physical certainty, 509; The true place of the inductive methods, 510.

THE BATTLE WITH ANTICHRIST IN FRANCE By Mgr. Bernard O'Reilly, D.D., 512

The two hosts that are in conflict in France, 512; Facts justifying the title of this article, 513; The policy to which those in authority are pledged, 514; Organization of a revolutionary society, 515; Animated spirit of the organization, 516; Freemasonry coming boldly into the light of day, 518; M. Renan as an apostle of Antichrist, 519; A minister taking public part, 520; Activity of Catholic life in France, 521; Movements of the Catholic forces, 522; Outcome of the zeal of Mgr. de Ségur, 523; Splendid results of Catholic work, 524; A splendid declaration from Archbishop Richard, 525; The work of Christian education, 527; Timely words from M. Chesnelong, 528; What the Catholic schools should do, 529; Hopes realized, 530; Importance of making the home truly Catholic, 531.

THE NEW PENAL CODE IN ITALY. By John Gilmary Shea, LL.D., . . . 532

Beginning of the seizure of the Papal States, 532; Perfidy of Napoleon III., 533; Aggressiveness of the present infidel power of Italy, 534; Calumny preparing the way for robbery, 535; The Italian peasantry overburdened with taxes, 536; Crime increasing and government influence waning, 537; The new penal code condemned on all sides, 538; The issue to which Signor Crispi has brought the Roman question, 539; The Catholic party is the only salvation of the Government, 540; The protest of the Holy Father against the Code, 541; Crispi falsifying the actual state of the case, 542; The Chamber's discourtesy to the Bishops, 543; The Pope compelled to lay his case before the governments of the world, 544.

THE ATTACK ON FREEDOM OF EDUCATION IN MASSACHUSETTS. By Prof. Thomas Dwight, M.D., ... 545

Condition of the Church in Massachusetts, 545; Laws concerning private schools explained, 546; An unwarranted bill to amend the existing law, 547; There was no necessity for such a measure, 548; Action of the Committee on Education, 549; President Elliott's views on education, 550; The anti-Catholic champions heard from, 551; Able non-Catholic opponents of the bill, 552; The two points made clear by the discussion, 553; The political part of the anti-Catholic movement, 554.

THE CONCORD SCHOOL OF PHILOSOPHY. By Condé B. Pallen, Ph.D., . . 555

The Concord standing ground and that of the Catholics, 555; Kantism, space and experience, 556; Objects and their environment, 557; An insight into the constitution of space, 558; Summing up of the Concord views on space and time, 559; The Concord doctrine of "Causa sui," 561; Concordian causality and the notion of the Deity, 562; Its blunders as to the activity of the First Cause, 564; Concord and Aristotle, 565.

THE RELATIVE INFLUENCE OF PAGANISM AND CHRISTIANITY ON HUMAN SLAVERY. By His Eminence Cardinal Gibbons, ... 577

Views of the Holy Father and Cardinal Lavigerie, 577; Slavery in the civilized world before Christ came, 578; Wretched condition of slaves in pagan times, 579; Obvious result of an unhealthy sentiment, 580; Slavery working the debauchery of morals, 581; The excesses of slavery mitigated by Christianity, 582; The example set by Christ, 583; How the Church abolished distinctions between bond and free, 584; The most substantial service rendered by the Church to the slaves, 585; Relative influence of Paganism and Christianity on slavery, 586; Pope Leo XIII.'s denunciation of the African slave trade, 587; The Church the friend of pagan as well as of Christian slaves, 588.

THE MYTHS OF THE "DARK" AGES. By Prof. Charles G. Herbermann, Ph.D., 589

Catholicity has nothing to fear from historical science and scholarship, 589; Difference between the old and the revised views of the Middle Ages, 590; Principles necessary for a correct judgment of the times, 591; How misrepresentation is being abandoned, 592; Change of views regarding the Popes, 593; Gregory VII. as an example, 594; The Popes of the tenth century, 596; Better men than Protestants have been painting them, 597; Prejudices dissipated by modern historical science, 598; The Middle Ages in the world of art, 599; Influence of Aristotle's principles, 600; Character of scholasticism, 602; The value of mediæval philosophy, 603; The preachers of the Middle Ages, 604; The Church's deeds of charity in that time, 605; The wonderful good exerted by the Popes, 607; Dean Maitland's view, 607; How the Mediæval Church and her servants have been redeemed from reproach, 608; The poetic literature of the Middle Ages, 611; There was a true culture in those days, 612; Favorable views of the most profound scholars, 614.

PAGE

THE LONDON POOR. By Arthur F. Marshall, B.A. (Oxon.), ... 614

The poorest class only spoken of here, 614; Some of the causes of poverty in London, 615; Three terrible wrongs, 616; Constant increase of the social causes of poverty, 617; Why Sunday is a good day for studying poverty in London, 618; The class that is most dangerous, and why, 619; Sunday meetings and riots, 620; Anti-religious propagandism in London, 621; Difference between the Catholic and non-Catholic poor, 622; The purest innocency of Christian sentiment, 623; Disadvantages of the Protestant poor, 624; Temperance and mendicancy, 625; Alms-seeking and alms-giving, 626; The bright side of the London rich, 627; How far the evil of poverty can be cured, 628.

THE DIOCESE OF QUEBEC UNDER EARLY BRITISH RULE. By D. A. O'Sullivan, LL.D (Laval), ... 629

The change of regime in Canada, 629; Legal inconsistencies of the first half century of British rule, 630; The ecclesiastical administration at the time of the transfer, 631; Filling the first vacancy in the See of Quebec, 632; Claiming the rights possessed in Catholic countries, 633; Hard nuts for Protestant bigots to crack, 634; The governor instructed to safeguard the king's supremacy, 635; The policy directed by the Duke of Portland, 636; An opportunity for a Protestant bigot to urge a change, 637; But he did not succeed, 638; Loyalty of the Canadian clergy to the British crown, 639; Perilous position of the Church, 640; More liberal rulers come into power, 641; Condition of affairs at the time of the war of 1812, 642; Final surrender of claims by the Crown, 643.

THE CHURCH AND THE FRENCH REVOLUTION. By Mgr. Bernard O'Reilly, D.D., ... 644

The story of Babel as a warning to France, 644; Temporary success of the city of Satan, 645; The Church and the world in the last hundred years, 646; France now on the verge of a volcano, 647; Masterly policy of the conspirators of 1789, 648; The Civil Constitution of the Clergy, 649; The Church enslaved and despoiled, 650; Substituting worldly for ecclesiastical machinery, 651; Forbidding the publication of Pontifical letters, 652; Beginning of outrageous violence against the Catholics, 653; Servility of King Louis XVI., 654; Wholesale imprisonment of Catholics, 655; Assuming absolute power of proscription, 656; Disorganization of the old military force, 657; The massacres and the abolition of royalty, 658; The revolutionists take to destroying one another, 659; The exiled French priests, 660; The same policy revived in our day, 661; Magnitude of the battle in which French Catholics have to engage, 662.

ANGELS AND MINISTERS OF GRACE. By M., ... 663

The Creation of the world, 663; The principal among the angels, 664; Fall of the rebel angels, 665; Records of angels in the Bible, 666; References in the New Testament, 668; Angels as guardian spirits, 669; They guard not only the Church, but each one of us, 670; St. Augustine's view of them, 671; The rulings of God's mercy to men, 672; The honor due the angels as practised in the Western Church, 673; The angels in the domain of poetry, 674; But the poets take a great license, 675; David the first of poets to commemorate them, 677; Blooming of the flower from the root of Jesse, 678; Treatment of the subject by Dante, 679; The great event of Bethlehem, 680; The record of Christ's life on earth, 681; Mary's life after her Son's ascension, 682; Her glorious assumption, 684; The hierarchies and the choirs of angels, 685; Father Faber on the Angels, 686; Festivals of the Angels, 687; The angels in sacred tradition, 689; How artists have painted them, 690.

WANTED—A TEXT-BOOK. By John Gilmary Shea, LL.D., ... 691

Difficulties in the way of organizing our Catholic parochial schools, 691; Why their number must increase, 692; Lack of political teaching in our public schools, 693; One respect in which Catholic schools should not copy them, 694; The time and place to amplify the political course, 695; A splendid chance for well directed zeal, 696.

THE SUPPRESSION OF THE JESUITS BY POPE CLEMENT XIV. By H. L. R., 696

How enemies now use this event in argument, 696; The spirit of the age preceding the suppression, 697; The advisers of the Bourbon Kings in those days, 698; Pombal's conspiracy against the Jesuits, 699; How the Pope was coerced, 700; Clement XIV. in the Papal chair, 701; Two non-Catholic nations befriend the Jesuits, 702; The Society suppressed by Brief, not by Bull, 703; The admirable spirit shown by the members of the suppressed order, 704; How they were avenged on Pombal, 705.

PAGE

RELIGION AND THE MESSIAH. By F. F. M., ... 706

The recent rise of the flood of unbelief, 706; How few are really infidels, 707; Evidences of the Divinity, 708; The different kinds of atheists, 709; The form that is most generally defended, 711; The present great interest in the subject of religion, 712; Individual and universal experience, 713; Other striking features of religion besides its universality, 715; The one bright star of the ancient world, 716; The people in whom was preserved the Messianic tradition, 717; What the universal belief in the Messiah proves, 718; The life of Jesus Christ on earth, 719; Man inclined to religion by nature, 720.

IMPRESSIONS OF LIFE IN VIENNA. By Frederick St. George Mivart, . . . 721

Evident good effect of religion on society in Vienna, 721; Restrictions on travel, 722; Peculiarities of hotel life, 723; The cheapest way to live, 724; How the use of coffee was begun in Vienna, 725; Notes about fish and wine, 726; The best wines to be had, 727; When every body takes coffee, 728; A hotel regulation peculiar to Vienna, 729; Street travel, 730; Wonderful charm of the streets, 731; Architectural contrasts, 732; A pretty garden and the beautiful blue Danube, 733; The grand and magnificent "Prater," 734; Vienna preëminently the city of pleasure, 735.

ALESSANDRO MANZONI. By K. R. L., ... 736

The parents of our poet, 736; The mother's influence upon her son's character, 737; A very curious will, 738; Standing and surroundings of the Beccaria family, 739; The Manzoni family, 740; A delightful home and rendezvous, 741; How death came upon Manzoni, 742; Manzoni among the shifting scenes of the world of letters, 743; Some of Manzoni's literary friends, 744; An element that was lacking, 745; More of his habitués, 746; Cantù's relations with Manzoni, 747; In his friendships even Garibaldi was included, 748; A three-fold classification of friends, 749; His relations with Balzac, 750; Manzoni's indebtedness to Scott, 751; His great work, 752.

BOOK NOTICES.

	PAGE
Abandonment (Caussade)	574
Ancient History (Fredet)	192
Antonius, a Dramatic Poem (Heywood)	184
Ave Maris Stella; Meditations for the Month of Mary	384
Benedictine Saints, a Thought from, for Every Day	576
Birthday Party and Other Stories	576
Cæremoniale Episcoporum	384
Canons and Decrees of the Council of Trent (Waterworth)	384
Christianity in the United States (Dorchester)	566
Church, The, and the Age (Hecker)	176
Conquests of our Holy Faith (Treacy)	575
De Spiritu Societatis Jesu (Rossetti)	382
Divine Office, Explanation of (Liguori)	190
Eglise, L', et L'Etat en Angleterre (Du Boys)	185
Elements of Ecclesiastical Law (Smith)	576
Emanuel, the Saviour of the World (Gmeiner)	574
English History in Contemporary Writers	573
Fate of the Dane and Other Stories	576
Garesché, Biography of Lieut.-Col. Julius P	382
Glories of Mary (St. Alph. Liguori)	186
Henry VIII. and the English Monasteries (Gasquet)	576, 753
Herodias, a Dramatic Poem (Heywood)	184
History of the Church (Birkhaeuser)	764
Holy See, The, and the Wandering of the Nations (Allies)	766
Imitation, The Lesser	384
Indiana, L'	191
Indifferentism (McLaughlin)	192
Infidels, Tactics of (Lambert)	183
Inquisition, a History of the (Lea)	179
Ireland, The Crime Against (Foster)	575
Ireland, The Story of (Lawless)	191
Ireland's Poets, The Household Library of (Connolly)	573
Irish Wonders (McAnally)	572
Life and Death of Rev. Edmund Gennings	181
Life and Glories of St. Joseph (Thompson)	576
Life and Times of the Most Rev. John Carroll (Shea)	761
Life of St. Bridget (Partridge)	575
Life of St. Patrick (Morris)	383
Literary and Biographical History (Gillow)	571
Lives of the Deceased Bishops of the United States (Clarke)	378
Maria Magnificata (Clarke)	576
Memoirs of a Seraph (Chardon)	576
Modern Novels and Novelists (Egan)	576
Month of St. Joseph (Berlioux)	575
Mores Catholici (Digby)	569
Newfoundland, Ecclesiastical History of (Howley)	189
Ownership and Natural Right (Holaind)	189
Palestine in the Time of Christ (Stopfer)	576, 768
Peter, The Chair of (Murphy)	574
Puritan Colonies in America (Doyle)	173
Religious, The Perfect (Weninger)	572
Rome, Jubilee-Tide in (Cox)	576
Salome, A Dramatic Poem (Heywood)	184
Six Sermons on Devotion to the Sacred Heart	576
Songs of a Life-time (Starr)	188
St. Peter, Bishop of Rome (Livius)	374
Stories for First Communion	576
Student of Blenheim Forest (Dorsey)	576
The Bad Christian (Hunolt)	187
Theologia Moralis (Ærtnys)	381
Tenure of Land and Eminent Domain	189
Visit to Europe and the Holy Land (Fairbanks)	183
Wealth and Progress (Gunton)	186
Wiseman's Essays on Various Subjects	757
Zoe's Daughter (Dorsey)	576